When he was on the earth, Jesus traveled around from village to village teaching, healing people, and casting out demons. One day, he called his twelve disciples to him and said, "I want you to go out two by two. I am giving you all of the authority you need to cast out evil spirits." That sounds like a pretty big task, doesn't it?

The main difference is that Jesus had told the Twelve that they were to preach in Galilee, avoiding Gentile areas and Samaria, but the 70 (or 72) were given no such restriction. The identities of the 70 disciples are never given in Scripture, and the group is never mentioned again, even during the time of the early church in Acts.
